

Jim and Laura | home computer users

Jim is a University Professor that frequently publishes his research. Laura is an attorney, she works at home about half of the time. Both of them keep work files on the computer at home. Jim's liability is for his intellectual property prior to publishing. Laura's is for her client information. In addition, Jim and Laura maintain bank accounts, their household financials and manage their portfolio on that same computer.

Jim and Laura sent their daughter off to college last fall and along with her new laptop and a credit card, they made sure to include SecuriKey to protect their investment.

key Issues for Jim and Laura:

Protect access to financials

Lock up work and client files at home

Protect daughters identity and credit card information while away at college

"When we heard about SecuriKey it was a no brainer. The 129 dollars we spent is a drop in the bucket compared to the liability of all that stuff getting into the wrong hands... and so easy!"
